Corrective hair color is a color process that must be performed by a professional hair colorist to correct any and all damage caused by a color service gone wrong. If you are coming in for a corrective color service at Shear Extacy Salon, there are a few things that are important to be aware of before coming to the salon.

Your hair is in a stressed and weakened condition when you come for your appointment. Because of the caution necessary to perform services on fragile hair, it could take several visits to achieve the final result. It is important to pay attention to your colorists' advice and ask any questions that may arise during your initial consultation. Please keep in mind that the final result may take several visits to achieve, depending on how damaged or weak your hair is upon your first visit for color correction.

Please note that the number of visits cannot always be determined until the process is started. The cost is determined by the amount of work necessary to achieve the desired result. Therefore, no refunds will be given. For more information on our policy, pick up a copy of our salon menu.
